Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Some Experiences in Naval Architecture: Being the Introductory Address at the Opening of the Sixteenth Session of the Liverpool Engineering Society, 2nd October, 1889 My first duty is to thank you for the honour you have done me in electing me to fill the Presidential Chair of our Society for tho coming year. I appreciate this honour very highly. I have too keen a sonso of my oxvn deficiencies to have any hope of attaining to the success with which tho duties of the Chair have been performed by my predocossors; but I feel sure that, since it is by your suffrages I am placed in the honourable position of your President, I may rely with confidence on your loyal and cordial support; and I vonturo to hope that by your kind assistance I may at least impartially - if imperfectly - fulfil the trust which you have imposed upon me. It will not be an inappropriate introduction to the few remarks which I shall have to make to you this evening if I briefly refer to what I know must be in the minds of many of us, as engineers deeply interested in the future honour and welfare of our profession. Many of our Liverpool institutions bear witness to the fact that we have not lacked largo - hoartod citizens and neighbors, whose wealth has enabled them to givo practical and generous expression to their good-will towards their fellow citizens. Prominent among these is tho name of Sir Andrew Barclay Walker, Bart. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
